

A THIRD HYMN FOR THE KIRK.

UP, sluggard soul! awake and raise,
To thy blest Lord a song of praise,
Who lifts thee from the gloomy grave,
When low on earth thou liest, —
To Him who lived and died to save,
Hosanna in the highest!

To Him, thy friend of friends, whose love
Invites thee to a home above,
When thou, the world's poor outcast slave
In grief and anguish criest, —
To Him who lived and died to save,
Hosanna in the highest!

A HYMN FOR THE KIRK.

389

His love a living stream hath found
For pilgrims faint, on barren ground,
Their parched and languid souls to lave,
When earthly streams are driest, —
To him who lived and died to save,
Hosanna in the highest!
