To blunc the edge of dire difeale,

Hymn to CHEARFULNESS. The Author Sick.

How pale the sky with weight of snows!

Haste, light the tapers, urge the fire,

And bid the joyless day retire!

—Alas, in vain I try within

To raise the dull, dejected scene,

While rouz'd by grief these fiery pains

Tear the frail texture of my veins;

While winter's voice, that storms around,

And you deep death-bell's groaning sound

Renew my mind's oppressive gloom,

'Till starting horror shakes the room!

Is there in nature no kind pow'r To footh affliction's lonely hour? To blunt the edge of dire disease, And teach these wintry shades to please? Come, CHEARFULNESS, triumphant fair, Shine thro' the painful cloud of care; O sweet of language, mild of mien, O virtue's friend and pleasure's queen! Asswage the flames that burn my breast, Attune my jarring thoughts to rest; And while thy gracious gifts I feel, My fong shall all thy praise reveal.

Behold the youth, whose trembling heart Beats high with love's unpitied smart; Tho' now he strays by rills and bow'rs, And weeping wears the lonely hours, Or, if the nymph her audience deign, Shames the fost story of his pain With slavish looks, discolour'd eyes, And accents falt'ring into fighs; Yet thou, auspicious pow'r, with ease, Can'ft yield him happier arts to please, Exalt his mien to manlier charms, Instruct his tongue with nobler arms, With more commanding passion move, And teach the dignity of love.

Friend to the Muse and all her train,

For thee I court the Muse again;

And may the votive lay disclose

How much to thy fair aid she owes!

See, when thy touch reveals her mine,

How pure the stores of fancy shine!

But if, by fortune's stubborn sway,

From him and friendship torn away,

I court the muse's healing spell

For griefs that still with absence dwell,

Do thou conduct my fancy's dreams

To such indulgent, tender themes

As just the struggling breast may chear,

And just suspend the starting tear,

Yet leave that charming sense of woe,

Which none but friends and lovers know.

Why thus forfook my widow'd breaft,

With dark infeabling dames oppres'd?

Where is the bold prophetic heat,

With which my bolom wont to beat?

Where all the common dreams
